GIANT GATOR ATTACKS FUD

DESTIN, FL Like a scene from an old Godzilla movie, visitors to Fudpucker's Beachside Bar & Grill were witness to one of the most incredible spectacles imaginable when a sixty foot alligator rose from the dark waters of Gator Beach and grabbed Fudpucker's founder and Chief Executive Officer, Father Fud.

"It happened so quickly!" exclaimed regular customer Tara Fide. "One minute Father Fud was standing there and the next thing you know, he was fifty feet up in the air flailing his arms and legs!"

The giant reptile actually raised Fud to its mouth and held him there briefly before dropping him to the ground and sinking back into the water. If not for the dozens of eye-witnesses and a timely photograph, this story could have easily been discounted as a spoof.

As one of the witnesses, Lou DiCruss, put it, "I've seen some unusual things since I've been in Destin, but that Father Fud guy had to be wearing the brightest shirt I've ever seen on a man, never mind his being covered in alligator saliva!"

Fudpucker spokesperson, Dee Lusional, made a brief statement confirming the incident, saying that, "the giant alligator indeed got a taste of Fud, but from its reaction, it won't be back for more anytime soon."

WITNESSES BEFUDDLED

The moment in which the giant reptile had Father Fud in its grips was captured forever by photographer, Hugh Ephoe, who was trying to film some vintage bi-planes circling Fudpucker's when the incident occurred.
